

Engineering out hazards

* The use of mechanical devices, distance, ventilation, or other ways to separate the worker from the hazard

* Examples include:

- remotely operated drum punchers,
- effective ventilation of confined spaces,
- sealed cabs on heavy machinery
- wet-saws for masonry

* Engineering controls are the most preferred way to reduce or eliminate potential exposure to hazards.